New! Handcrafted Italian Veneer Cork Flooring Patterns: Italian artisans have long been admired for their influence on products that affect our daily lives. Their creations drive trends and make us rethink our views on how we design the environments where we live and work. The Veneer Cork Patterns from Expanko draw on this design tradition. Handcrafted designs Pesca and Spinato have been created for introduction at NeoCon, Chicago, IL, June 9, 2008.

This is the first in a series of handcrafted Veneers from Expanko. These .05mm veneer tiles are suitable for use in commercial applications and can be easily maintained for years of service. Pesca and Spinato can stand alone or combine with other Expanko Cork patterns creating unique designs never before available to the commercial flooring market. These patterns are exclusively available through the Expanko sales network. All of this without compromising the environmental benefits of Cork Flooring or the LEED contribution to your project.
